

SUSAN HARPER PORTAL OF DREAMING INTENSIVE
SEPT 27-OCT 2, 2012 RIGMOR HOUSE CHAPEL HILL, NC

PORTAL OF DREAMING

Our deepest nature, like nature itself, is ripe with imagination, and interconnected with all that is.

We explore the ways we are each dreaming and being dreamed by the world in the dream we call our waking life.

Our dreams show us what wants healing, or shows us a new bud bursting to be free.

MOVING DREAMS

We bring dreams to life by moving their qualities and characters. When images come alive inside the wisdom of our bodies an understanding is birthed that affects the original dream, the body, and the dreamer.

We explore dreams to loosen the grip of identity; freeing us to embrace our fluid nature, which is creatively responsive to its context.

WHAT WILL WE DO?

This intensive includes demos of dream tracking, solo, partner, and group explorations. Using a somatic approach we track our dreams or life experiences for those who don't remember dreams. We enter the details, tend the nuances of image, sensation, movement, meaning, we arrive at an insight, an existential message so resonant and impactful that its unfolding meaning reshapes the direction our life.

We open meditative inquiry awareness practices and explore the elemental affinity between our bodies and the living breathing planetary body. In deep long movement dives, we deepen our capacity for fluid grounded embodiment and creative expression.

For our dreamtime allnighter we will adorn the room with shamanic textiles to stimulate the imaginal, psyche processes, and to support our journeys for healing and envisioning.

SUSAN HARPER has been teaching and contributing to Continuum since 1975. She is the developer of Em'oceans and Sensations Trainings and with Hubert Godard co-developed Portals of Perceptions. Her dream work is inspired by the teachings of Chris Price - Gestalt Awareness Practice, Michael Meade and David Whyte.
